

Free Vision Screening for Children Sat., Sept. 9, 11 a.m.-1 p.m.

Children aged 6 months to 8 years can receive free vision screening at this program sponsored by the Melville Lions Club. Lions KidSight USA is a simple, non-invasive, cost-free screening. It is not intended to replace a full eye examination by an eye care professional, but it can tell whether a child's vision falls within normal limits. Conditions that can be picked up by the screening include near-sightedness, far-sightedness, astigmatism, anisometropia (lazy eye) and strabismus. If conditions are detected, the child should be taken for a complete eye exam with a professional. Parental consent is required.

Meet the Candidates Night Wed., Sept. 6 at 7 p.m.

The League of Women Voters of Huntington will host a debate between Tracey Edwards and Darryl St. George, the Democratic hopefuls for Huntington Town Supervisor, who will face off in a Democratic primary on September 12. All welcome.

BiblioBoard: Engage With the Community

Whether you are a writer, musician or seeker of information, the library's newest online feature can help you find your community. It is an easy-to-use platform that offers high-quality content to patrons on the web and eReaders. Its core collection includes primary source historical content and over 30,000 books, articles, images, video and audio with the ability to add additional content if desired. The platform also includes the "Creator," digital creation software that will allow users access to multimedia publishing tools to upload and publish original music and art. Furthermore, BiblioBoard includes "SELF-e," a product by Library Journal that offers independent authors in our community a dedicated and branded portal for author e-book submissions. To access, log on to our website at www.shpl.info and click on the link, or download the free app. You will need a South Huntington Library card.

BECAUSE OF YOU.

LIBRARIES TRANSFORM

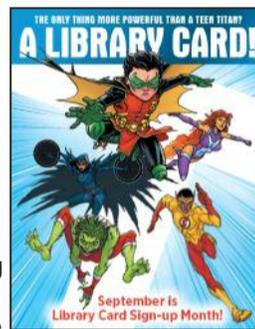

September is Library Card Signup Month

Visit us for Amnesty Day, Open House on September 18th

Over the past several months our newsletter's Libraries Transform campaign has been featuring photos of the library board and staff. The message is that we are dedicated to bringing you — our community — the best service as well as the most up-to-date resources and technology available.

The staff recently came together in our beautiful Library garden to take the photo above. The smiling faces are an indication of the gratitude we feel for the privilege of serving and working in such a wonderfully diverse community. We strive to create a comfortable and stimulating environment that facilitates learning, creativity and relaxation for all. We firmly believe that the public library, with all the resources available, can positively transform our lives and our community. We enjoy the relationships we have forged with you and appreciate your input, which helps shape our collection, programming and future as a public service institution.

Our campaign will culminate on Mon., Sept. 18th with Amnesty Day and an Open House. We extend an invitation to all to come and explore your library. Staff will be on hand to sign you up for a library card; demonstrate online resources, such as e-books and homework help; and answer your questions.

South Huntington patrons will also have amnesty from fines on overdue materials on Sept. 18, no questions asked.

Local Leaders Support Local Libraries

Senator Carl Marcellino and Assemblyman Chad Lupinacci, longtime friends of public libraries, have teamed up once again to promote library development by supporting the New York State Public Library Construction Grant Program for funding year 2017-2018.

The South Huntington Public Library recently received notification that the library's application for a Public Library Construction Grant, has been approved for a total award of $198,000. The grant money is earmarked for the creation of a technology learning space, which is to be located in the area currently occupied by the print reference collection.

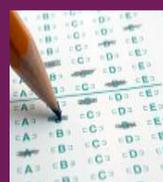

According to Library Director Joe Latini, "The Internet has irrevocably changed the nature of library service. The days when librarians used sophisticated and expensive print reference sources to answer obscure and often complex reference questions are basically over. Today access to traditional reference resources, such as encyclopedias, literary indices and professional journals are available through the library's online database subscriptions. Computer use in the library continues to increase, while the use of the library's wireless network has increased dramatically by 86 percent since 2010. In order to stay apace of these changes we must evolve our services."

Questions? Britannica Online Has Answers

Just in time for the new school year, students have free access to Britannica's online encyclopedias. There are five versions, for the youngest scholars on up through college students and adults. Search for any topic to find comprehensive articles, journals and periodicals, websites and primary sources. There are also photos, videos, maps and illustrations for class projects and research papers. Extensive biographies are also available. To access, go to our homepage at www.shpl.info > Articles & Databases > Encyclopedias. You will need a South Huntington Library card.

Calling All Bookworms

If you are looking for reading recommendations, participate in a book discussion group or want to start one, Book Club Central is a great new place to go for information.

Book Club Central, a new initiative of the American Library Association, was designed in consultation with expert librarians to provide the public with the very best in reading. The online resource, at www.bookclubcentral.org, is a one-stop shop for engaging content and helpful information for book clubs and readers of all types, including author interviews, book recommendations and reviews, as well as discussion questions and information on how to start and moderate a book club.

Actress Sarah Jessica Parker is honorary chair of Book Club Central, and her first selection is No One Is Coming to Save Us by Stephanie Powell Watts, an exploration of the American Dream among African Americans in the South.

Book Club Central can also be found on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter.

For more reading recommendations, you can also:

LIBRARY CARD SIGN-UP MONTH

September is Library Card Month and the South Huntington Library wants to make sure that every child has a library card!! Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library for a lifetime of learning. Patrons can apply for a library card at the Circulation Desk by showing a driver's license, utility, phone or tax bill, or apply online at www.shpl.info. Children who show us their South Huntington library card during the month of September will be eligible to enter a raffle to win a grab-bag of prizes. Enter any time through Friday, Sept. 30 at the Children's Desk.

A TIME FOR KIDS
