We gather together ...

When we get together with family this holiday season — whether in person or virtually — we may wonder how our family came to be. Fortunately, the library offers several online resources you can use to chart your family tree. They include:

Ancestry.com – Access all sorts of public record databases, from census and Social Security to military and immigration.

Ellis Island – Search the free Ellis Island archives for passenger records and manifests for those immigrants who passed through Ellis Island and the Port of New York between 1892 and 1924.

HeritageQuest – Search U.S. federal census records from 1790-1930 and published family histories. It also has Revolutionary War-era records as well as Freedman's Bank (1865-1874), which was and Thurs., Nov. 25 – Happy Thanksgiving!

ADULT PROGRAMS

Classical Sundays

Oxana Mikhailoff, piano (L)
Sun., Nov. 21 at 2:30 p.m.

This talented Russian-American pianist will perform works by Rachmaninoff, Chopin and others. At the age of 8, she won an international Young Artists Competition. She studied at the Moscow Conservatory and at the Manhattan School of Music. Ms. Mikhailoff pursued an active performing career throughout Russia and Europe as a recitalist, concert soloist and chamber musician. Her United States debut took place at Carnegie Hall in 1999. She later returned to Carnegie Hall to play an all-Chopin recital on the 150th anniversary of the composer's death. All welcome.

Alfred Van Loen Gallery

"Wonders: Built and Natural." Photography by Ennid Berger & Mike McLaughlin. Nov. 6-Dec. 1.

Mike McLaughlin, an admirer of modern architecture, says his inspiration for photography comes from a desire to hone the spare, clean lines of the aesthetic. Based both on Long Island and in New York City, Mike has the opportunity to interpret this clarity of form in both urban and rural settings.

The photography in this exhibit focuses on the classical and modern city buildings of New York City. He describes this series as "architectural extractions," in which he removes the distractions around the subject to highlight the beauty and personality of the particular building.

Ennid Berger's series for this exhibit is photography with a focus on the light of the sky and the sea. During the pandemic months of 2020-21, Ennid a resident of Long Island and Key West, was living in Key West, taking daily images of the stunning natural changes in the sky and sea. Her work is about light and shadow, but as she calls this series "transferring energy," it is also about creating positive energy from the beauty of nature.

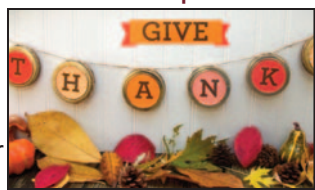

The exhibit may be viewed during regular library hours. Look for a virtual tour on our website's gallery page: www.shpl.info>Using the Library>Van Loen Gallery.

Virtual Travel

Video Vacation: Northern Ireland (V)

Fri., Nov. 12 at 11 a.m.

Game of Thrones fans have flocked to Northern Ireland to see in person the captivating backdrop of the show's most compelling scenes, like the Dark Hedges in Antrim, seen as The Kingsroad. The town of Armagh, once an important pagan hilltop site, was selected by St. Patrick as the spot to build a great stone church in 445 AD, making it the center of the church in Ireland. An odd cluster of six-sided stones, the Giant's Causeway is a breathtaking part of the Antrim Coast. Join the Savvy Sightseer to tour these sights as well as many others. Watch the video on our website calendar at the time of the program, or any time after.
